Annual Water Quality Report Available from Heritage Village Water

SOUTHBURY, CONNECTICUT – June 28, 2017 – Heritage Village Water’s latest water quality reports are available to customers and others who consume the water produced by the Heritage Village Water Company, which serves customers in Middlebury, Oxford and Southbury. The report summarizes water quality testing done in 2016 and includes information about the Heritage Village Water’s water system, water quality test results, and source protection measures. Heritage Village Water works closely with the Department of Public Health (DPH) to ensure that the water it provides to customers meets or is better than state and federal standards for drinking water. Customers who read the report can see that effort results in high quality water being delivered to consumers.

“Heritage Village Water employees are committed to delivering customers with clean, high-quality drinking water. We know water is one of life’s essentials and touches everything we care about,” said Craig J. Patla, Connecticut Water’s Vice President - Service Delivery. “We encourage our customers to read the report so they can see the extensive water quality testing and monitoring that is performed throughout the year so customers can have confidence in the quality of the water delivered to the tap.”

Heritage Village Water is part of an organization that tests more than 170,000 samples, or about 400 tests per day in Connecticut. The samples are tested at state certified laboratories for more than 120 potential contaminants and water quality parameters. Heritage Village Water collects water samples before the water is treated, during the treatment process and in the distribution system before it reaches a customer’s home. Water quality samples are tested at laboratories certified by DPH and test results are submitted to DPH’s Drinking Water Division.
